

xxlInc expands into Europe with Documaster and De Ree

Marking the first step towards a truly sovereign European GovTech platform, where digital public services are independent, secure, and compliant by design.

Hengelo, the Netherlands, October 8, 2025 - xxlInc today takes its first step beyond the Netherlands, a strategic move to create a European GovTech platform with the addition of Norwegian archiving specialist Documaster and Dutch heritage software provider De Ree. The combination strengthens the digital foundation for European governments by keeping public information secure, discoverable and durably accessible. This marks the start of a European GovTech platform designed to meet the highest standards of security, sovereignty and compliance.

Expertise in archiving and heritage

Documaster is a leading Nordic provider of cloud-native document management and archiving with offices in Oslo, Ålesund, Sofia. De Ree develops software for cataloguing and publishing heritage and cultural collections, widely used by libraries, archives and knowledge institutes in the Netherlands. Their combined expertise strengthens xxlInc's application landscape, helping governments protect knowledge, meet EU requirements and make information easier for European citizens to access.

Future opportunities

This expansion unlocks a wide range of integration opportunities to solve challenges for governments. Connecting xxlInc's case management software with Documaster, for example, allows governments to streamline the handling of information requests, ensuring case files transfer flawlessly to a compliant archive. Similarly, integrating xxlInc's anonymization tools with Documaster automates the removal of sensitive data before publication, significantly speeding up processes while guaranteeing privacy compliance. These practical examples are the first of many possible combinations, with the ultimate goal of evolving the xxlInc Cloud into a trusted ecosystem where European governments can work smarter, faster, and more securely.

Continuity, ownership and support

For customers of xxlInc, Documaster and De Ree, continuity is assured. The same applications, interfaces, support teams and contracts remain in place, while behind the scenes we prepare connections to the xxlInc Cloud. Main Capital Partners will remain the controlling shareholder of all three companies. This continuity provides the stable foundation necessary for our long-term European growth strategy, which includes a commitment from Main to facilitate multiple future acquisitions. For Documaster's operations in Sweden, the final formal step, FDI approval, has been initiated and is expected to be received in the coming weeks.

Leadership for European growth

Documaster CEO Svein Henning Kirkeng joins xxlInc as Chief Commercial Officer, strengthening the management team alongside founder and CEO Michiel Veenhuis, CFO Jeroen Semmekrot and COO

Wolter Kreun. Kirkeng brings more than a decade of experience in scaling B2B SaaS solutions internationally. His first priorities include building an international commercial structure, expanding partner programs, and delivering greater value to the combined customer base to accelerate the cross-border adoption of xxlInc solutions. "Building on Documaster's history and Main's support, we now have the scale to not only grow beyond the Nordics, but also to deliver more innovation and value to all our customers," says Kirkeng. "Our goal is to deliver secure, accessible and sovereign digital solutions that governments across Europe can trust."

A Strategic Platform for Europe's Digital Future

This expansion responds to accelerating European legislation such as the Data Act and AI Act, and to the growing demand for compliant archiving, interoperability and digital sovereignty. By bridging the gap between fast-moving technology and the pace of public sector adoption, xxlInc is building a secure and future-ready application landscape. "Public information has a lifecycle, from creation in a case file to its preservation as digital heritage. By combining xxlInc's case management with Documaster's compliant archiving and De Ree's heritage expertise, we are the first to offer a solution that supports that entire journey. This creates immense value for governments and makes public knowledge more accessible to all citizens," says Veenhuis. The long-term vision is an integrated xxlInc Cloud: a European ecosystem where public sector applications work seamlessly together to deliver reliable, accessible and citizen-focused services.
